Congressmen Plan Strategy On Bill Regulating Labor

Public Predictions Of Victory Come From Opposing Side

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Labor legislation strategists in both branches of congress charted new battle plans today even as the smoke of the hectic house scrap still swirled.

Public predictions of final victory came from both camps—that is, from (1) those who want to get rid of the Taft-Hartley law, and (2) those who want to keep most of it.

This is the situation: In the house, the Wood bill to keep much of the T-H law on the books is back in the labor committee—fired there yesterday by a narrow-squawk vote of 212 to 208. The house sent the measure back to the committee for further study and hence reversed its acceptance of the bill on Tuesday, 217 to 203.

That means there is no labor bill before the house. It also means the Truman administration can launch another drive, starting in the labor committee, for house approval of its Taft-Hartley repeal bill—which got no place in the weeks debate. However, the indications are Democratic leaders will concentrate instead on a compromise measure which would keep some of the T-H provisions.

That compromise bill also was defeated in the first round house battle.

In the senate, the opening of labor debate still appears to be about a month off. But Republican foes of the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer laid the groundwork yesterday for their counter-attack.

TOP Senators Taft (Ohio), Smith (N.Y.) and Donnell (Mo.) introduced a new labor bill which Taft told the senate would "retain the best features of the Taft-Hartley law."

The Taft-Smith-Donnell measure, actually in the form of five amendments to the administration bill, would repeal the Taft-Hartley law in name, then reenact much of it.

One of the main changes it proposes is in the method of dealing with "national emergency" disputes and strikes. The repeal could ask the courts to authorize a 60-day injunction, or federal seizure of struck facilities, or both. In some cases he would be required to call a special session of congress to deal with the situation.

The Taft-Hartley law provides for 80-day injunctions.

Lease Extensions By Texas Provide Funds To Schools

AUSTIN, May 5.—(AP)—Mineral lease extensions, netting the permanent public free school fund $1,388,643 in cash bonuses, were approved by the state school land board yesterday.

The 197 extensions involved 84,443 acres of land, Bascom Giles, board chairman and state land commissioner, said in announcing the board's action.

The board yesterday added 53 new leases to the 144 it had already given preliminary approval. These newly-approved leases added $410,434 in bonus payments and should bring an additional $5,000,000 to the school fund in accruing royalties, Giles said.

Holders of the 28 leases covering 11,925 acres passed up the extension chance and will automatically relinquish their leases at the end of the current 25-year terms, Giles said.

Kerens Votes For $40,000 School Issue Of Bonds

KERENS, May 5.—(Sp)—Kerens citizens very definitely decided that they were for a progressive school system when they voted a new $40,000 bond issue at the High School Building on Wednesday, May 4th. 148 votes were cast in the election and 141 voted for the issue and only 7 voted against it.

This new bond issue means an increase of $60,000 on the $100,000 valuation in taxes. The $40,000 rate was $1.00 per $100 valuation and the $1.50 rate is the maximum rate that can be levied in taxes for school purposes. Fifty cents of the issue will be used in payment of the bonds and $1.00 will be for school maintenance. Also a portion of the fund will be used in building additional class rooms, a new lunch room, and a new modern gymnasium.

Had the bond issue been voted down it would have meant that the Kerens High School band would have been discontinued as well as two of the present teaching staff. Now that the bond issue carried a teacher will be provided for each 30 pupils in the school. Also that the band will be kept and improved as well as the new improvements mentioned above.

Bank Officials In Ohio Robbed By Masked Gunman

CLEVELAND, May 5.—(AP)—Four masked gunmen held up two bank officials shortly before noon today and escaped with approximately $25,000 in cash.

Victims of the holdup were Anton Bizza, 62, a teller, and George Ziemba, 72, vice president of the Lincoln Heights Savings and Loan Co.

The robbers used two automobiles for the stickup.

They abandoned one of the cars at the scene.

The bank officials told police their car was rammed into a curb by the bandits' two cars.

65,000 Employees At Ford Plants Go Out On Strike

Negotiators Fail In Last Minute Settlement Effort

DETROIT, May 5.—(AP)—A strike of 65,000 workers hit Ford Motor Co. at noon (EST) (11 a. m. CST) today and negotiators broke up a last minute conference in which they had hoped to reach a settlement.

Peace talks were called off at 12:20 p. m. They had been extended after the deadline in a last desperate hope that agreement could be reached.

Some 62,000 shouting workers streamed out the gates of the big Rouge plant. At the Lincoln-Mercury plant, another 3,000 left their jobs.

Assembly lines, whose speed had been the subject of wrangling for months, stopped.

And so, Ford was hit by the first major walkout since the bloody 10-day battle in 1941 when the UAW-CIO first gained recognition.

Within nine days, the company said, the strike would tie up most of the worldwide industrial empire and hit 106,000 production workers.

Despite the walkout peace talks between top ranking union and company representatives continued beyond the noon strike deadline.

The walkout took place simultaneously on two fronts. Some 62,000 workers streamed out of the Big Rouge plant, control point of the Ford empire. Another 3,000 walked out of the Lincoln-Mercury plant.

If the strike lasts, Ford's worldwide industrial empire soon will be tied up.

Picket lines were established immediately. There was no disorder. At issue was the union's charge that Ford had speeded up production at the two plants beyond a rate compatible with workers' health. Ford denied this.

The union's speed-up charge alleged that the company was not maintaining assembly lines at the correct ratio between speed and manpower. In other words, the union believed too much work was being required of too few men.

Ford said the lines were going at the normal rate and demanded that the union submit the issue to arbitration. The company said the union's refusal to do this was a violation of the contract.

Ford vice president John S. Bugas said just before the break-off of negotiations that there was "no hope of settlement."

Entering the talks for the first time at 10 a. m. today, UAW President Walter Reuther said the strike could be settled by a written agreement.

Watermelons Sent By Air To Dying Sweetwater Girl

SWEETWATER, May 5.—(AP)—The watermelon 15-year old Wanda Jean Fields has been wanting "so bad I've been tasting it for two weeks" is at her house.

The school girl, gravely ill with cancer, received three watermelons last night. It was the result of a neighbor who heard of her wants.

Doctors say Wanda Jean hasn't long to live.

F. O. Guerley, the neighbor, asked Airport Manager Hubert Polard for help in finding the watermelons. He, in turn, asked Pioneer Airlines office in Houston for aid.

Jack Kemp, a Pioneer official, found the watermelons in a produce house.

The melons were rushed to Wanda Jean's house as soon as the plane arrived here.

Texas May Require More Revenue For Its New Operations

AUSTIN, May 5.—(AP)—Comptroller Robert S. Calvert announced today there is $134,000,000 left in the general revenue fund for the legislature to spend on appropriations.

He arrived at this figure after deducting probable state expenditures on the Glimmer-Aikin school program, and the allocation of $15,000,000 a year for rural roads. Both come from the clearance fund. The clearance fund is now bare, Calvert said.

The senate finance committee yesterday recommended passage of money bills that would cost $128,449,138. That did not include the eleventh-hour bill which is still in committee and calling for expenditures of approximately 64 million dollars for the next two years.

If those money bills go through as now written by the senate committee, that would leave a deficit of approximately 38 million dollars. While the departmental bill calls for expenditure of 51 million dollars, only 31 million of it is derived from the general fund. Special funds to take care of 20 million.

Calvert's report and yesterday's surprise action by the senate finance committee in failing to cut heavily on pending appropriations left the spending-taxation issue squarely before the individual members of the legislature.

Bars Down

The committee yesterday let the bars down on spending, recommending passage of money bills that could plunge the state into deficit financing again if enough lawmakers want to do it that way.

Calvert's estimate on the Glimmer-Aikin program cost presumed adoption of the minimum foundation program bill as passed by the house.

The clearance fund, from which extra public school costs to the state would be paid, is a revenue pool into which omnibus tax funds drain. If there is anything left there, the balance goes to general revenue. There is now nothing left in the clearance pool.

Indications were today the legislators are trying hard to finish their work and end the session. In the senate, a resolution calling for final adjournment at noon May 27 was introduced. It went to the rules committee without action. It was the first adjournment resolution to be accepted by the presiding officer of either house.

Biggest obstacle to adjournment now is collection of the spending-taxation question.

The legislators could put the bars back up by trimming the money bills on the floor. They could go on deficit financing by passing the majority, or they could pass a tax bill to raise some more money.

Liquor Issue Gone

House committee action last night wiped out the liquor sale-ban plank for the session. The liquor regulation committee killed Rep. A. J. Vale's measure permitting such sales by local option vote in wet territory. The same committee also in effect killed an automobile ban, sending it to a subcommittee. That's the death knell in a session.

The senate finance committee recommended passage of these measures.

Church And State Issue Raised In Education Debate

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—The issue of relations between church and state was raised today in the senate by two conflicting bills. One would make the federal aid to education bill.

The Senate went into its fifth day of debate on the $300,000,000 measure confronted by a proposal of Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) to let some of the fund be used for school bus services for all children.

Under his amendment, the money granted to the states would be divided among children in private and parochial schools as well as public schools.

As written, the bill provides that the proposed aid might be used for non-public school education as each state saw fit.

McMahon said the supreme court has held that the states can provide auxiliary services for children in non-public schools—despite its ruling that federal taxes cannot be used to support and religious activities or institutions.

He told a reporter that "auxiliary services" include bus and recreational services and noted that the senate last week passed a bill to give $35,000,000 a year to states to help pay for health examinations for children in all schools.

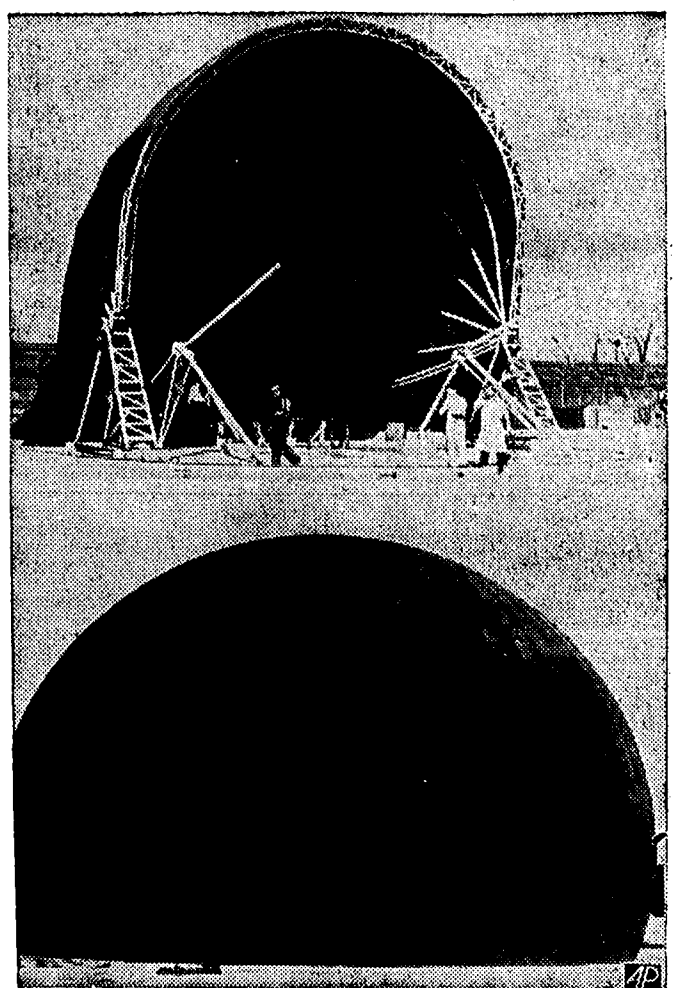

He said Congress appropriates funds for school lunch programs in the same way, and added: "There is no religion in a quart of milk or a bus ride."

But Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) contended the bill already goes too far in that respect. He presented an amendment that would limit use of the aid funds to public elementary and secondary schools regardless of state policy.

Chinese Communists Join Alliance With North Korean and Burmese Reds

SHANGHAI, May 5.—(AP)—Chinese Communists have joined in a Russian-blessed alliance with North Korean and Burmese Reds, the official Chinese Central News Agency said today.

The Communist action was announced as part of "the joint struggle against American and British imperialism," the Nationalist agency said.

If true, the "mutual defense pact" would stretch a 3,500-mile Red arc from the sea of Japan to the Indian Ocean—an arc encompassing hundreds of millions of people. There was no confirmation of the pact from other sources, however.

Chinese Red armies meanwhile slashed across south central China, with these developments reported:

1. As government forces prepared to yield Hankow, shaky central China fortress-city, a Red offensive posed a sharpening threat to their escape route. The Red drive was nearing Nanchang, midway between Shanghai and Canton, and seemed aimed at Changsha, further west.

2. Formosa sources reported the return of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek from Red-encircled Shanghai to that big island haven. By coincidence, one Formosan newspaper today said that many government officials flocking to that island "political rubbish," and urged Formosan officers to extend "no hospitality."

3. The Shanghai garrison commander said Nationalists repulsed two Red columns in "a heavy battle" 37 miles northwest of Shanghai on the highway to Nanking. It placed the clash near Tai-chong, and said the Reds left behind them "several hundred dead and wounded and 12 captured."

4. An American pilot, Ray Bowes of Buffalo, N. Y., flying with a Chinese airline, said he has seen no fighting or troop concentrations around Shanghai the past few days. He reported equally light military activity in the endangered central China base of Hankow.

5. Four of unknown origin destroyed 4,000 huts in the poorer sector of Shanghai, leaving 20,000 homeless.

Henry Wallace And Sen. Vandenberg Clash Over North Atlantic Treaty

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) rebuked Henry Wallace to his face today for insisting before the world "that your country is imperialistic in attitude and objectives."

Wallace, former vice president and cabinet officer, was testifying to the senate foreign relations committee in opposition to the North Atlantic Security Alliance.

He called the pact "aggressive imperialism" and accused the state department of keeping secret a Russian offer on March 21 to lift the Berlin blockade.

And, Wallace said, there are individuals of "evil actions" who want to "enforce our will by force, in all parts of the world."

Finally, Vandenberg told him that he could not condone Wallace's action "in going about insisting that your country is imperialistic in attitude and objectives—that it is bent on world conquest in one form or another."

"There is room in this field for honest disagreement," Vandenberg said. "Some of us may be just as sure we are seeking peace as you are."

Vandenberg made this statement after Chairman Connally had asked Wallace if he wanted this country to "go down and let Russia absorb the world and do nothing about it."

Wallace said: "I say that neither Russia nor the United States is devoted to obtaining peace. I don't hold a brief for either one."

The committee is laying the groundwork for a vote on the treaty which is not binding on the senate. For six days it has heard those in favor of the program. Now those against it have their turn.

Wallace, in a prepared statement, urged the committee to withhold action on the treaty until after a foreign ministers conference is held on the German situation.

He said the administration estimate of the cost of the North Atlantic military pact is "a plain fraud on the American taxpayer."

He predicted the eventual cost will be as high as $30,000,000,000 instead of the slightly over one billion dollar figure some have set.

Berlin Blockade Will End May 12, Under Agreement

Foreign Ministers Will Have Meeting In Paris May 23

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—The Russian blockade of Berlin will be lifted May 12 under a Big Four agreement announced today. The Western Powers' counter blockade of the Soviet zone of Germany will be ended at the same time.

The council of foreign ministers will meet in Paris May 23 "to consider questions relating to Germany, and problems arising out of the situation in Berlin, including also the question of currency in Berlin."

The four power communique, climaxing more than two months of intense negotiation, was issued simultaneously in Moscow, London, Paris and Washington—as well as in New York where the Berlin deal was worked out at the headquarters of the United Nations.

The document was an extraordinary display of harmony after more than a year of tension and conflict—sometimes marked by fears of actual war.

U. N. Gets Copy

At the same hour the brief statement was made public, a copy was handed to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general.

It also was given a letter from the Western Powers asking him to advise the U. N. Security Council "that agreement has been reached about the four powers regarding the blockade."

An official statement itself marks the beginning of the end of one of the most critical situations in the postwar struggle between Russia and the Western powers.

It will require the full week from now to May 12 to make the complicated arrangements for restoring normal rail, highway and barge traffic between Germany's first city and the Western occupation zones.

But while the desperate necessity for the airlift now will be an end, officials made plain they have no intention of abandoning it either suddenly or completely.

The demands were drafted by military governor, General Clay, said he expects the aerial operation to continue until the Western sector of the German capital is a stockpile of at least 200,000 tons of supplies. That would mean about one month.

Even then, the planes and men in all probability will be kept under standby orders.

Steelworkers Ask Wage Increases And Pension Pay

PITTSBURGH, May 5.—(AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers today demanded "a general wage increase" plus pensions and social insurance to be paid for by the steel industry.

The amount of the fourth round wage increase was not announced. The demands were drafted by the big union's international executive board and approved today by the 170-man wage policy committee.

The statement handed out by CIO and Steelworkers President Philip Murray said: "This wage policy covers all contracts which may be opened or which are about to terminate."

Quadruplets Are Born To Family Living In Bronx

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—The new members of the Collins family—all four of them—were doing nicely today.

That was the report from Lebanon Hospital, where Mrs. Ethel Collins 27, yesterday gave birth to two boys and two girls.

The quadruplets weighed a total of 17 pounds and 14 ounces at birth.

Mrs. Collins had been expecting triplets. When she learned there were four instead of three babies, she murmured:

"My, how wonderful."

The father, Charles Collins, 29, a brokerage office clerk, got the news by telephone. His comment: "A long while."

Quadruplets occur about once in every 676,000 births. An average of three sets a year are born alive in the United States.

The babies were placed in an incubator.

The hospital said all four babies were delivered within five minutes.

The father said the four will be named Andrew Raymond, Edward Charles, Linda Carol and Barbara Ellen.

Asked if his salary—which he declined to disclose—would support a family of seven, Collins replied, "Who knows?" But he said he was "delighted, and amazed, to say the least." The Collins have another son.

He said he did not know what he was going to do about housing four new babies in the couple's three-room Bronx apartment. It has one bedroom.

PALMERI-ROBINSON MARRIAGE CEREMONY IS HELD AT HOME OF BRIDE'S PARENTS HERE

Miss Lena Palmeri became the bride of Wiley D. Robinson Jr. in a ceremony Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock with the Rev. Mr. V. Graffeo officiating. The rites were read in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Palmeri, 700 West Fourth Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of W. D. Robinson Sr., 1428 West Collin Street, and the late Mrs. Susie Clayton Robinson.

The single ring service was performed before an altar improvised of calla lilies, white stock and gladioli. White tapers burned in wrought iron candelabra. The bride and groom were combined in arrangements used in decorating the Palmeri home.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a navy blue gabardine suit, white blouse and navy accessories. Her only jewel was a diamond cruciform which was a gift from the bridegroom. She carried an orchid and lilies of the valley atop her white satin prayer book, and a rosary of silver.

Mrs. Rose DeGeorge, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a beige bolero suit, white blouse, brown accessories and golden maize straw hat. Her corsage was formed of Tailsman roses.

Joseph A. Guthrie, nephew of the bridegroom, attended as best man. The ceremony was read before approximately twenty-five members of the immediate families, who also were guests for a wedding dinner in the Blue Room.

George's Grill, and for a reception later in the home of the bride's parents.

Bulldogs Blast Clifton Nine, 19-7 Monday Night

Strengthening their position in the east zone TJCAC baseball chase, the Navarro Bulldogs swamped Clifton Junior College Monday night in Meridian, 19-7.

Several awesome batting performances by the Bulldog sluggers paved the way for the Navarro win. Charlie Smith's four hits in six trips paced the locals.

Navarro's pitchers, Bill Reed and George Hodges, turned in strong performances that nipped any Clifton attempt at a sizeable rally. Reed tossed the first five frames, giving up two blows, and Hodges finished out, allowing the same amount.

The Bulldogs were scheduled to meet the Panola Ponies, with whom they are tied in the zone race, at Territo Park this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Corsicana To Vote June 25 On Change For Charter Of City

Corsicana voters will go to the polls on June 25 to ballot on charter changes which would extend the city limits and separate the schools from the city, it was decided by the city commission Tuesday afternoon by a 3-1 vote.

Edgar Rittersbacher, water commissioner, who two weeks ago voted against the resolution paying the way for the ordinance, again voted no two times Tuesday.

Rittersbacher previously had announced he is not against extension of the city limits, which is the No. 1 proposed amendment, and is not against separation of the schools; but he is against Amendment No. 2 which sets the city's tax rate. He previously had stated binding the city to a level is unfair.

When the ordinance calling the election was up for voting Tuesday Mayor Hubert T. Braselton and Commissioners J. E. Davant Jr. and P. Travis Fullwood voted for its passage on first reading. Rittersbacher cast his negative vote. Fred D. Prince, park commissioner, was absent.

There was another motion that the ordinance be passed finally at the next meeting, May 17. Rittersbacher again voted no.

Rittersbacher, it was apparent, feels the schools should not try to control the city's tax rate.

Whiteway Extension

The city was asked by a Chamber of Commerce group to carry its new whiteway system to Commerce Street between Third and Sixth Avenues, and on Third, Fourth, Fifth, Collin and Sixth guard unit, offered the city officials "a real cleanup campaign." He told them the guard would furnish eight large trucks and necessary trailers, that drivers of the unit, a few minutes before had asked the city to pay the armory light bill, with the guard then reimbursing the city, to effect a saving. He also asked about a new roof for the armory, declaring it would cost approximately $550. Both matters were referred to Davant and Fullwood, the building and grounds committee.

The commissioners authorized Davant as police commissioner to hire another policeman at $160 a month for 90 days. Davant had asked the extra man as a vacation relief worker. The commissioner also asked the ordinance committee to investigate as to feasibility of adopting an ordinance controlling parking of huge trailer and transport trucks in the residential areas during both day and night.

Fullwood told the commissioners he wanted the city engineer to buy a stock of gravel with which to repair damages done to streets by the Lone Star Gas Co. and the water department. Fullwood said residents who have paid for their own streets have complained that the gas company has dug ditches across them, and left virtual canyons. Fullwood would repair the water department's damage, but would bill the gas company for material and manpower used in making repairs on their ditches.

The matter of little steel shavings in the ditch leading from the Lake Halbert spillway across a ranch owned by Mrs. Bertha McKinney, wife of W. E. McKinney, former commissioner, was back before the commissioners.

McKinney requested in writing that the shavings be removed. The commissioners had delayed taking action until the written request was received. Blucher was authorized to meet with McKinney and arrange a date for the scooping.

The commissioners also authorized Glen Cumble, airport manager, and Blucher, to purchase a tractor and heavy duty mower for use at the airport and the city lake picnic grounds, with the tractor also being slated for

GOVERNMENT PUBLICITY

At the recent annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors it was pointed out that there is a growing tendency among governmental bodies to try to restrict the press in gathering and publishing news about what government is doing. This is true not only of the federal government, but of many state and local governments as well. It is also a problem in press dealings with the United Nations where there is considerable variety of opinion as to what constitutes the proper functions of the press.

Newspapers and their editors were urged to remain alert to resist this tendency. As a matter of fact little urging is needed. But the protection of the traditional freedom of the American press is not something which newspapers can do alone. Unless the people remain aware of the personal importance of their free press, and unless they remain determined that their press shall remain free, the press itself would be left to fight a losing battle.

The successful operation of the American form of government, or for that matter of any genuine democracy, depends on the intelligent and informed participation of all the people. The people can neither be informed about their governments, local, state and national, nor very intelligent about them, unless they can learn from day to day what government is doing, and what the plans and purposes of the officials are. This information can only be provided through the work of a press which is free to find, examine and publish all news of government and otherwise, according to its own high standards of truth and responsibility.

HIGH CHAIR.

The high chair is a royal throne; But those too fond of dress Who value bits of silk they own, Must practice wariness.

Who draw too near that lofty place Discover, all too soon, They have a king or queen to face Whose scepter is a spoon.

That little tyrant on the tray A silver cup will pound, With milk both man and maid to spray, However garbed or gowned.

Yet time so swiftly mends the ways Of little tyrants small, I sometimes think those high chair days Are really best of all.

of all American Indians is particularly the affair of the American people because they are wards of the federal government. The present state of their welfare range all the way from abject poverty to opulent wealth. That is true of the rest of the people, too, but in the case of the Indians the situation of any community or tribe is a result of the combination of the characteristics of the people themselves and the productive worth of the lands assigned to them by the government.

The wealth of some of the Indians in Oklahoma, for instance, results from the discovery of rich petroleum beds beneath their lands. The poverty of the Navajos and Hopis in nearby Arizona and New Mexico results in large measure from the deterioration of their land, which was arid to begin with and has not been properly conserved and developed. The bill in which the Association is interested would aim, for one thing, at reclaiming and improving the land of these Indians.

Alexander Lesser, executive director of the Association, sees the long range objective of the bill as "an enlightened Navajo people ready to take their place with all citizens in the forward movement of American life." Does this mean it would aim at an eventual end of the isolation of some of the Indian tribes, and absorption of them into the pattern of American development? That would not be so easy to achieve as it may sound, but it might be worth striving for.

WRITING A BIOGRAPHY

If William Lyon Mackenzie King should die suddenly, a world of information, interesting not only to Canada but to the United States and other countries, would be lost with him. Undoubtedly the first citizen of Canada, he would still be heading its government if he had not retired voluntarily a short time ago at 75. He made the record of serving as prime minister for 21 years, the longest term of service not only for Canada but for the entire British Commonwealth. He conferred with Roosevelt and Churchill during the war, and must know many secrets that are known to no one else.

Unfortunately a veteran statesman cannot write his autobiography from memory, even if he consults a diary. There are masses of letters to go through, to say nothing of reports and other public documents. When Robert E. Sherwood undertook to write the life of Harry L. Hopkins during the war years, it took him two years to examine the materials and consult persons concerned. Even then he had to leave fully as much other material untouched, a rich quarry for some future biographer.

Here the Rockefeller Foundation comes to the rescue. It has appropriated $100,000 which McGill University in Montreal is to use in arranging the King papers. Out of it, if King is able to complete the work, should come a valuable contribution to history.

One possible doubt comes from the fact that King's speeches and public career were on the neutral side. If his thus far unpublished letters are like these, they will not tell the world much.

REAL AUTHORITY IN RELIGION NEEDED TO MAKE IT VITAL

Christianity More Than Mere Ethical Teaching—The Master A Flaming Revolutionary—Christian Truth Still Turns The World Upside Down—Atomic Age Needs Corresponding Spiritual Power

By WILLIAM E. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS.

A number of books have appeared recently purporting to give an account of the life of Jesus couched in modern terms. For the most part they portray Him as a gentle figure, rebuking by example every intolerance and harsh judgment on the part of His contemporaries and urging people under all circumstances to be kind to one another.

This is good as far as it goes, but Jesus was something vastly more than a gentle teacher of benevolence. He was such a controversial character that the religious leaders of His day rose up against Him in an almost solid front and, until they had brought Him to death, they had brought Him to death.

Jesus was crucified because He challenged the authority of the religious leaders of His day and proceeded to act on the basis of a different authority. The Jewish church had become moribund, corrupt, worldly. Jesus flouted the authority which these leaders presumed to exercise. While He was loyal to every detail of the Jewish religion as set forth in the Old Testament, He was openly scornful of the petty and foolish rules which scribes and Pharisees had laid down for men to follow. Such a teacher was in for trouble. He was not crucified because He preached kindness and talked about a kingdom of love; He was crucified because He exposed and named the racketeers of a highly profitable racket which was going on in His day.

The great issue at the center of the ministry was that of authority, and the Sunday school lesson this week deals with this issue. Jesus, scourge in hand, had cleansed the temple. The rulers quite properly demanded of Jesus by what authority He did these things? He replied by asking them to say before the people what they thought of John the Baptist, promising them that if they answered that question He would tell them by what authority He had cleansed the temple. They could not answer the question. If they put their stamp of approval on John, they automatically approved Jesus, whom John had proclaimed the Messiah; if they denounced John, the surly multitude that revered the memory of the martyred prophet would start a riot. They had to say that they could not answer the question, and so, humiliated in the eyes of the multitude, they beat a hasty retreat.

Where Authority Abides. Christ possessed a secret which He did not choose to disclose at that time to the Pharisees, namely, that He is the supreme authority in heaven and on earth. Christ's authority is an inner authority and challenges all authority, which is merely external. It is spiritual, and it defies authority which arises simply out of the presumption of power. It is the authority of God, and it firmly demands that all earthly authority conform. When we have that truth, we have laid hold on something basic.

Christ's measure of our conduct. Christ is the teacher at whose feet we must sit. Christ is the king, and all governments must conform to the principles for which He lived and died, or eventually go out of business. Christ is the Arbiter behind all justice, else courts and juries are a mockery. Christ must dictate the policies of banks and corporations, and if He does not, any economic system will fail.

In this same connection, we study the query of an honest scribe who asked, "What commandment is first of all?" Few questions are older than this or more natural to man. It was in the mind of the scribe who noted that the Nazarene spoke with an authority above that of the doctors of the law. A sincere seeker, this scribe, he got a straight answer. In contrast to the hypocritical pettifoggers who had been trying to ensnare Jesus, here was a man troubled in his own spirit who really wanted to know. Religion in that day had become largely a matter of formalism and ritual, and to that anxious Jew in the temple courts, the Master laid down a simple, understandable and workable law of life. It was religion reduced to its ultimate simplicities. A child could comprehend it; but all of a strong man's powers were needed to fulfill it.

Summed Up Simply. Four words comprise the Master's great definition of the supreme duty of mortals: Love God, love man. Look up, look around; reach up, lift up. The house of life has heavenly windows. The two ears which propel the boat of character—either inadequate without the other—are love to God and love to man.

The danger of our day is a godless conception of brotherhood, which will neither work nor last. In the Master's time the danger was a brotherless conception of godliness, which was disloyal both to God and to man. Jesus, with an authority which was supreme and final, made the law of love—love for God and love for man—the basic law of life. One without the other will not work. Each is an essential complement of the other.

City Commission Here Must Decide On Local Control

Ruling Unlikely At Regular Session Slated For Today

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff

The city commission Tuesday held rent control in its hands—held it much as one bounces a hot biscuit from palm to palm.

They legally inherited the question Monday night after holding a two-hour public hearing on the matter in district courtroom of the Navarro County courthouse.

Although the commission holds its regular session during the afternoon, it was not expected that any decision as to whether the group will continue controls or recommend decontrol will be announced.

Mayor Hubert T. Braselton said during the session Monday night that "no decision is planned tonight." He later added that "this is a thing that requires much study."

The Monday night forum was predominantly a landlords' session and they came fully organized to demand of the commissioners that they recommend decontrol to Gov. Beauford H. Jester. There was a scattering of renters, but they said little, were not organized and had no spokesmen.

Orderly Session
The session was orderly, with just an inkling of a temper flare-up here and there. Two city policemen were at either entrance to the courtroom just in case.

Three members of the Area Rent Advisory Board sat in on the meeting, but made no comment. They were Joe Sheppard of Kerens, Drew Gillen of Blooming Grove and Otto Smith of Corsicana.

Mayor Braselton conducted the session. Meeting with him were Edgar Rittersbacher, P. Travis Fullwood and J. E. Davant Jr., commissioners, and City Attorney Julius C. Jacobson.

The tenants had their inning first, but it was short. Mrs. Bill Blackwell was one of the first to speak. She predicted rents would soar if controls are removed. A Mr. Mangold said removal of ceilings might work "if landlords will try to do the Christian thing." He added, "I said it."

M. L. Parker asked: "What happens if the city is decontrolled, and rents go up?"

"Once off it is off," Mayor Braselton explained.

Mrs. C. B. McClung, emerged as chief speaker for the renters. She declared once that "landlords won't fix them (rent houses) because they don't have to fix them. Places now are very hard to find."

Later she spoke again, declaring she had been forced to spend $250 to repair a place she rented.

Wright for Landlords
Wilbur Wright was spokesman for the landlords. He presented, among other things, a survey showing 140 vacant rental units in Corsicana. He listed them as 13 houses, 85 apartments, 42 bedrooms. He pointed out the survey showed "a very comfortable list of houses" available. He also presented an accumulation of Corsicana Daily Sun classified advertisements showing a majority of them were offering units for rent, with a small minority seeking places to rent.

He presented also a petition for decontrol, some of the signatures belonging to Wright's tenants, a number of "hard-luck" letters from landlords.

He pleaded for "deepest consideration" on behalf of the commission.

"We find the whole underlying thing is the fear of renters that their rent will be raised," he declared. "We believe the fear unfounded."

It was at this point that the only direct question was asked. After Wright finished presenting the landlords' case against controls, Rittersbacher asked: "Wilbur, would you raise your rents?"

"No sir," replied Wright. "Renters are my customers. I have a commodity to sell."

"Then, what is the objection to rent control?" Rittersbacher contended.

"My objection is supervision. When I put my money in an investment that costs like a house does and then have no control over it, I don't want it."

The landlords had at least one outspoken support from a renter. She was Mrs. Addie Hall, an X-ray technician, who rents a room at the home of Mrs. I. N. Suttle, 421 West Sixth Ave. She accompanied Mrs. Suttle to the session, and spoke briefly in favor of decontrol, declaring, "I believe rent control has created less places in which to live than more places."

Sydney Marks, longtime Corsicana merchant, declared "control should be off; it has served its purpose." He added at the last, "We, the people, speak."

One by one the landlords spoke

Double Wedding Scheduled For Misses Southernland And Reese At Streetman Church June 12

Miss Evelyn Southernland and Miss Faye Reese are to be brides in a double wedding ceremony to be performed Sunday, June 12th, in the First Baptist Church, Streetman.

Southernland, Streetman, is to be married to Carlton Gregory, a graduate of Fairfield High School and a former student of East Texas Baptist College in Marshall. The now is engaged to be married to the Greenville Avenue principals, the Rev. Southernland.

Miss Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reese of Dublin, is to be married to Marshall Southernland, Jr., brother of Miss Southernland. Both now are students at Hardin Simmons College, Abilene. The officiating minister is to be the father of two of the bride's principals, the Rev. Southernland.

A. James yesterday. He had asked Sheriff Houston Walling to take him there so he could "clear some things up."

In an interview with Jack Proctor, Cleburne newspaper man, Hester said, "I wanted to clear the name of Dr. Lord because I really liked the old man."

In his signed statement to James Hester said:

"I was afraid Mr. James would prosecute me again if I said I had lied during the trial. Dr. Lord was not a homosexual as I testified to and not at any time did he ever have an unnatural sexual relation with me or conduct himself in any manner that would lead me to believe him a homosexual."

Then he said to Proctor, "My life was at stake; I had to frame it."

Later, after questioning by a district attorney, Hester reversed himself the second time.

During his trial Hester said he beat the educator to death because he failed to keep a promise to lend him the family car if he would submit to an unnatural act.

He indicated these two factors were involved in the slaying on March 8.

Hester was arrested in Los Angeles March 12, after driving and hitch hiking there from the Lord home near Burleson, a short distance south of Fort Worth.

Anniversary Of Wedding Observed
Mr. and Mrs. Hood Cheney Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Duncan, Wichita Falls, Saturday jointly observed the thirty-seventh anniversary of their double wedding. It was the first anniversary in twenty-nine years shared by the two couples.

With the Duncans were their daughter, Mrs. P. A. Youngblood, and grandson, Clifton Youngblood. Sharing in the occasion were Frank Cheney, Mr. and Mrs. Hood Cheney Jr., and their son, Hood III.

The Agriculture Department has announced that this loan cotton still under loan on August 1 will be pooled by CCC for producers' accounts. The loans mature July 31, 1949.

"Producers may either sell their 'equity' in the loan cotton or redeem the cotton from the loan and then sell it in the open market," it was explained.

Producers were urged to give serious consideration to marketing the loan cotton before it is placed in pools.

continued operation of the airlift as a sort of insurance against the possibility that if the approaching negotiations for a settlement of broader German problems becomes difficult, the Russians might be tempted to restore the blockade.

Actually, best informed authorities consider this possibility remote because they believe the Russians have suffered a first class defeat in the battle for Berlin. Thus they reason that this defeat rather than any impulsive desire to adopt conciliatory gestures toward the West, prompted the Soviet agreement announced today.

The blockade first was imposed more than a year ago and since the middle of last summer the restrictions have been as complete as the Russians could make them. The Soviet purposes were regarded by the west as, primarily to block Western power plans to create a separate government in Western Germany, or, failing in that, to drive the Western allies out of Berlin.

The Soviets would have succeeded in one of these objectives—or in precipitating a war,—had it not been for the success of the airlift operation. It prevented the starvation both of the German population and the allied inhabitants in the city.

The airlift became a symbol of Western determination to stand firm against Russian pressure and a demonstration of American and British aerial might.

Meanwhile the counter blockade measures which the Western powers took against the whole Soviet zone put the Russians themselves under heavy economic pressure and proved another factor in their eventual defeat at Berlin.

So far the airlift has cost the

Dentists Warned To Keep Watch For Cancer Of Mouth At Houston Meeting

HOUSTON, Tex., May 5—(AP)—Saliva, dentists and pastes chest cancer patient of the opportunity to be cured, a Louisville, Ky., dental surgeon told dentists attending the Texas State Dental Society meeting here.

The dental surgeon, Dr. E. C. Hume, chief of Maxillo-surgery at Louisville's St. Joseph's Infirmary, said the preparations "only serve to hide the real state of the disease."

"There are only two known means of curing cancer," he stated. "These are surgery and irradiation. The latter includes X-ray and use of radium."

Dr. Hume, who has seen more than 3,000 malignancies about the mouth and face in his practice, said that cancers of the mouth, face and throat comprise about 15 percent of all cancers. "And," he added, "about 85 percent of them can be cured if they are detected early enough."

He cautioned that any break in the mucous membrane of the mouth which does not heal within 15 to 20 days is cause for a consultation with a competent physician.

"The average dentist," he stated, "can take a piece of the suspected tissue large enough for microscopic examination. Taking the tissue does no harm, nor will it cause a deformity."

"It can save a life because the examination will tell whether the condition is cancerous," he added. "The mucous membranes of the cheek are often involved by cancer," Dr. Hume said.

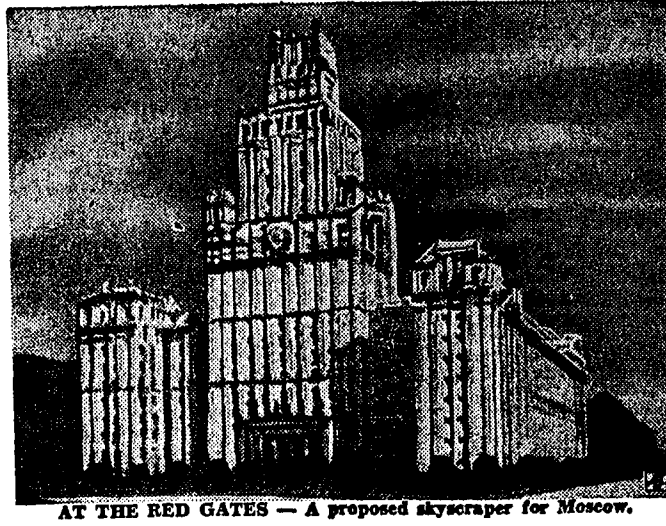

"Often such irritation as a decayed tooth, a malposed tooth or even an elongated tooth striking the gum of the opposite jaw where a tooth has been removed can cause a cancer," the doctor said. However, we are not sure whether the irritation itself causes the condition," he added.

Doctor Hume said a lot of cancer is being seen in its early stages now, making the chance for cure better. He attributed this to the educational efforts of the American Cancer Society, which is telling the cancer story to the public.

cheered by the success of the New York negotiations. They welcomed assurance that after a year of tensions and conflict, sometimes raising fears of war, this battle for Berlin would be ended at last in what Western leaders consider to be a clear-cut victory for their diplomacy and for the airlift operation.

They considered it of great significance that Russia finally was willing to agree to lift the blockade virtually unconditionally. Russia

MOSCOW — Architectural designs of new Moscow "skyscrapers" have begun to appear in the Soviet press.

According to plans these new 18- to 26-story buildings are to be erected during the next few years. Their construction was provided for in a special post-war decree of the Council of Ministers of the USSR.

One of the tallest of the new buildings is scheduled to be erected at the highest point in Moscow—Lenin Hills. This skyscraper, which will be visible from all

The apartment sections are to be from 10 to 12 stories. The central administrative section is to contain 350 offices and will be about 25 stories high.

The project was designed by A. N. Dushkin, B. S. Mesentzky, and V. M. Abramov, architects in the employ of the Railway Ministry.

At present the tallest buildings in Moscow are 15-story structures. One is the Moscow Hotel in the center of the city, which in 1947 housed the American, British and French delegations to the Council of Foreign Ministers.

and Temple; providing for increased soil conservation service; making a four-year institution of Lamar College at Beaumont.

The total was $128,449,138. The higher education bill calls for expenditure of $65,400,000 in the next two years, the department bill for $51,549,138.

Asked what the action might mean in relation to taxation, chairman Jim Taylor of the finance committee said: "We don't know. The legislature will have to decide whether it wants to pass all of them or not."

All money bills ultimately are worked out in joint senate-house conference committees.

Well Covers

The house yesterday passed and sent to the senate a bill providing a fine of from $100 to $500 for anyone convicted of leaving a well or a cistern uncovered. This was among 36 local and uncontested measures whirled through in an afternoon session.

Another would create a water conservation district for Odessa and Big Spring. It goes to the senate.

The house also joined the senate in inviting Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian University, to address a joint session about May 12. Earlier it had refused to concur in the senate invitation after some members objected they needed the time for work this late in the session.

Debate on a senate-approved measure permitting oil operators to enter into voluntary agreement for developing oil fields was interrupted in the house when the time came for taking up the calendar of local bills.

LOCAL CAMPAIGN FOR CIVIC MUSIC ASSOCIATION OPENED WITH DINNER FOR WORKERS

The Corsicana who last year heard Stephen Kovacs and his Four Piano Ensemble swing from Bach to boogie or watched young Devy Erlin, violinist, through the Paganini concerto, "La Campanella," does not need to be sold on the virtues of the Civic Music Association or its services to the community.

Neither did the individual bust at the opening of the local campaign, a dinner meeting for workers Monday evening in Kinsloe House.

Instead, each and every one gave evidence of the kind of real enthusiasm for the product in hand which guarantees that Corsicana will go "over the top" in the drive for membership this year.

W. P. McCammon, president of the Corsicana Civic Music Association, assured the workers that the plan will bring to the city in 1949-50 at least four more outstanding musical events.

Monday night's dinner meeting was a pictorial promise of beauty.

Never has Kinsloe's dress been more fetching, more charming. Roses bloomed in wide-branched arrangements which framed the staged and the massive candelabra which graced its center.

Their flaming red color and the flowers themselves were repeated in centerpieces throughout the room where covers were laid for 125 Civic Music devotees.

Matching silver urns held red roses and tall, palest green tapers at graduated heights adorned the speakers' table.

Green and chartreuse tapers with floating arrangements of red roses centered the smaller tables throughout the room, while the longer tables held more elaborate combinations of the chosen colors and flowers.

Short Program.

The program was instructional but very short.

The invocation was given by the Rev. William C. Acosta, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, who with Mrs. Acosta had places at the speakers' table in itself was strong evidence of the kind of support the community lends to the civic concert service. Covers there were laid for group leaders, many of whom are veteran workers such as W. P. McCammon, president, and Mrs. L. S. Cooper, secretary. Yet the campaign already has enlisted the talents of such newcomers to the city as Mrs. Herbert Burkhardt, assistant secretary, and invited the support of others such as the Rev. and Mrs. Acosta, who have just established residence here.

Representing the assistance of the national organization was young Richard McGurk, Chicago, who instructed the workers in ways best fitted to bring the campaign to a successful conclusion.

Interest Noted.

In the audience of 125 were high school ages, college ages, the young married, teachers, those representing groups for culture and those simply interested in the best entertainment for the community at large.

Ray Waller, president of Navarro Junior College, reminded the workers that the school last year had purchased 125 memberships for its youth from activity funds, believing that good music was one of the greatest things that can come to young people.

Mr. McCammon, in presenting Mr. McGurk, pointed out that the Corsicana association had increased its memberships each year and promised at least four concerts next season.

McGurk advised the workers to sell Civic Music concerts as good entertainment rather than high brow culture to potential members. He advised them that more concerted effort will be required this year to put the campaign across.

Mr. McGurk indicated that the concerts over the nation will be affected by general trends to buy less readily this year.

Work Necessary.

Mrs. L. S. Cooper added the final word of instruction to workers, telling them that real work was necessary to bring the campaign to a successful conclusion Saturday evening when the membership will be closed, funds tabulated and concerts selected.

All representatives voiced confidence that the association will reach new heights in membership this year. For them there wasn't any doubt about this or any other campaign conducted by Civic Music in Corsicana.

Recognized for the elaborate decorations were Mrs. Roy Love, Mrs. W. K. Logsdon, Mrs. Andrew Chilton and Mrs. Robert Cason.

Special mention of work accomplished included the names of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Harvey, Jr., and Mrs. Sam B. Warner, who are spearheading the campaign; Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Burkhardt, division chairmen and others.

Workers were requested to check with campaign headquarters at the Navarro Hotel as often as possible but especially Wednesday and Saturday. In these offices on the mezzanine floor McGurk is working daily with Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Burkhardt and others to keep the work from snowballing on the final day.

Capacity Audience Sought.

Hopes were expressed by all the speakers that this drive will obtain a capacity audience for the concerts in the high school auditorium which will seat 1048.

The association operates on a closed membership basis. The fifty-second week the membership is thrown open, members pay dues for another season and new members are invited to join. Annual membership are $8 for adults and $3 for students. These amounts include federal taxes.

On Saturday night when the campaign closes or when the auditorium capacity has been reached if this occurs before the closing day, the enrollment is closed.

Giles Given Life At Beaumont For Langston Murder

BEAUMONT, May 5.—(AP)—A jury today convicted Henry Robert Giles, Jr., of murdering Elbert Langston of Houston and assessed his sentence as life imprisonment. The verdict was returned at 9:35 a. m. The jury received the case at 8:25 p. m. last night.

The state had asked the death penalty for Giles, black sheep of a prominent Corpus Christi family. It described the stocky, 30-year-old defendant as "a cold-blooded murderer."

Giles was charged with fatally shooting Elbert Langston of Houston in a rice field near Nome, Texas, last March 25.

Giles is the son of the late H. R. Giles, prominent physician, hotel owner and former mayor of Corpus Christi. A wild youth and an erratic man, Giles moved to Houston, married seven times, ran through his inheritance, once shot a Houston friend in the stomach. The friend did not die.

Langston was shot to death. William Earle Pelham of Houston, also indicted for murder in the slaying, is yet to be tried.

John C. Brunson, no-billed by the grand jury in connection with the case, was a states witness.

He said he and Langston, Giles and Pelham took a wild automobile ride from Houston. Pelham held a knife at his throat in the front seat of the car as Langston was shot in the rear of the car, he testified.

He said he heard Langston scream: "No, no," and then he heard two additional shots.

Brunson said Pelham carried Langston's body from the road into a rice field.

Ramie Griffin, assistant district attorney, asked the death sentence for Giles in closing arguments last night. Jap Fuller, district attorney, called the defendant "a cold-blooded murderer."

Wyatt Baldwin and Leslie Ball, defense attorneys, argued that Giles is an habitual drunkard who did not know what occurred the night Langston, a former South Carolina seaman, died.

A high point of the trial was when young Giles testified in his own defense. He said he was drunk the day of the shooting—events were vague.

"I don't remember seeing the body or even having the gun." But he said he remembered shooting "at something white" which came around his car toward him after the automobile had been parked on a side road.

A state department of public safety ballistics expert identified a pistol found in Giles' possession as the weapon which killed Langston.

Giles' seventh wife, Mrs. Juanita Jean Giles, testified she was forced to work to support herself and Giles during their two years of marriage. She said her husband was an habitual drunkard.

It is the first meeting of the year between the Tigers and the Wildcats, the first session in Temple having been rained out on April 19.

The Tigers are fresh from a 5-3 victory over the Waxahachie Indians. Temple just had its ears pinned back by Waco, 17-0.

Coincident with the game here tomorrow afternoon, Waxahachie meets Waco in Waco, in the game that will remove one of the main contenders to the Corsicans for the district title.

Jerry Caton, the little man with the rubber arm, will do mound duty for the locals against Temple tomorrow. The game will wind up what originally was the district schedule, but three final games appear on the Tiger schedule for the week of May 6-14.

The Tigers go to Cleburne next Tuesday, and Waco comes to Corsicana next Wednesday. The remaining date with Temple has not been definitely set.

Coach Boyd Payne would make no predictions as to the outcome of the district race Thursday, in spite of the fact that the Tigers of Corsicana are well out in front. "We want to play each game as we come to it," Payne said. "We want to win all of the next four games."

Navarro County Prisoners Went To Work On Roads Thursday Morning

Convicts in the Navarro county jail weren't lying around on their bunks Thursday.

Starting Thursday morning, all prisoners serving sentences or laying out fines were put to work on Navarro county roads, Sheriff David Castles announced.

The commissioners court, in a special session Wednesday unanimously authorized this action.

Castles said each commissioner would designate a deputy to be appointed guard over the convicts who will work in one precinct one week and another precinct the next week.

Commissioner J. C. McMullan will take his week beginning Thursday morning, the sheriff said.

The prisoner-working idea has been advanced several times by Castles since he took office. Convicts have not worked on roads in many years and have been idle in their cells since the county farm was made inoperative.

Wednesday, the sheriff said, there were only seven prisoners "eligible" for work. Juveniles will not work.

The commissioners' action is a stinging blow to the many unemployed, known bootleggers and gamblers in Corsicana and Navarro county. When these individuals are arrested and convicted, they'll be put to work, Castles said.

The commissioner-designated guard will report to the jail about

NAMED SWEETHEART—Miss Katharine Regester was named the sweetheart of the Corsicana Hi-Y Friday evening at the organization's annual banquet occasion in the Corsicana Country Club. The recognition came amid roses, orchids and candlelight when the Hi-Y boys and their dates gathered to name a sweetheart and to hear Tom Eady outline a formula for happiness. Eady was named man of the year by the Corsicana Jaycees recently. Following Eady's speech, Hi-Y president George Baum Jr., made the impressive presentation of Miss Regester.

Cotton Classing Available Farm Operators Here

Plans for handling the 1919 cotton classing and market news services available to farmers without cost under the Smith-Doxey Act were announced here today by D. E. Earle, in charge of the local office of the cotton branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. department of agriculture.

"Farmers should apply for these services just as they did last year," Earle said.

To be eligible for the free cotton classing and market news services, he pointed out the farmers must meet certain requirements:

1. Belong to a group of farmers organized to promote the improvement of cotton.
2. Plant part of his acreage in the variety of cotton adopted by the group.
3. File an application as soon as the cotton is planted.

Groups in this area should mail their application to 1104 South Erway street, Dallas, Texas.

To make sure farmers secure all the benefits due them under this program, their group application should reach our office by July 1, Earle said. However, applications will be accepted until August 1, 1919.
